Established in 2010, the Neurology and Neurosurgery Interest Group (NANSIG) allows medical students and junior doctors to gain insight and experience in Neurology and Neurosurgery. We have over 1000 members nationally and have representation in over 15 countries internationally. We provide educational materials, mentoring facilities, and seminars which aide student career development. Our flagship event is the annual careers day which attracts over 200 delegates and is run in association with the Society of Neurological Surgeons (SBNS). We also work with university societies and hospital deaneries across the country through our network of representatives. As the largest group of its kind we are proud to work with both the SBNS and the Association of British Neurologist
